Not Divulge Name or Character of His Testimony

That a witness material to the defense of Leo M. Frank has been located in the suburbs of Chicago is the substance of a statement made Sunday to an Associated Press correspondent by Attorney Herbert J. Haas, of the Frank Defense.

According to dispatches, Mr. Haas refused to divulge the name of the new witness or the character of the testimony, which is to be expected from him. Attorneys of the Frank Defense here also refuse to discuss the Chicago angle of the case.

C. E. Sears, head of the Atlanta branch of the Burns Detective Agency, said he is not expecting the return of William J. Burns Monday.

Mr. Sears said he has received no intimation as to when the famous detective will return.

In the absence of Burns, the probe of the Phagan case is continuing under the direction of Dan Lehon, of New Orleans, head of the Southern Division of the agency.

Mr. Lehon says several new points in the case have been developed since he took charge of the investigation, and these points will immediately be called to the attention of Burns on his return to the city.

Lehon continues to express satisfaction at the manner in which the investigation is proceeding.

Tuesday Morning

Emil Selig, father-in-law of Leo M. Frank, died at 5 o'clock Monday morning at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. C. F. Ursenbach, in the Washington Apartments, 52 Washington Terrace.

His death was unexpected. For several months he had been in failing health, according to members of the family, but had never been confined to his bed. Saturday he was up and about and appeared to be better.

Mr. Selig was sixty-five years old. He was born in Germany, but had lived here for many years, one of the most prominent and beloved of his people.

The body was removed to Greenberg & Bond's chapel, where funeral services will take place at 10 Tuesday morning, Rabbi David I. Marx officiating. Interment will be at Oakland Cemetery. Following are the pallbearers: Joe Gershon, Julius Simon, Charlie May, Ike Haas, Joe Fuld, Herman Fox, Herman Sommers, Meyer Marcus.

Mr. Selig is survived by his wife, three daughters, Mrs. Alex. Marcus, Mrs. C. F. Ursenbach and Mrs. Leo M. Frank; two brothers, S. S. Selig, of Atlanta, and Joseph Selig, of New York, and one sister, Mrs. Alice Jacobus.
